Artist Trading Cards (ATC's) for peace, hope and healing. Want to give back? Join us for a fun creative act of community healing and service. Members will learn how to fold origami cranes and create ATC's with a crane attached to it and a word or two of hope and inspiration. The sky is the limit when it comes to techniques used on the card backgrounds. Painting, coloring, mixed media, stamping, drawing, decoupage, zentangle, whatever inspires you. Each card is an original miniature work of art.

The cards are given away to others on a healing journey. Bringing a little hope and inspiration to those facing a health related challenge.

"Cranes of Hope" came about while I was going through treatment for breast cancer. First I challenged myself to fold a thousand origami cranes. (Japanese legend promises that anyone who folds a thousand origami cranes will be granted a wish by a crane. Some stores believe you are granted eternal good luck. Such as long life or recovery from illness or injury.) Then I challenged myself and some friends to make a thousand Crane ATC's to give away to a thousand different people on their own healing journey. The idea flew off and in the last three years we have made and distributed over 15,000 crane cards.
